BELIEVE THIEF HAD ACCOMPLICE

New Salem People Insist Lorenzo Jackson, Who Was Taken to Prison Today, Was Not Alone.

HIS STORY IS DISCREDITED

Seen Here at Nine in Evening and Theory is he Could Not Have Reached Store by One.

Sheriff Cavitt left this morning for Michigan City with Lorenzo Jackson, self-confessed burglar, who was captured in New Salem early yesterday morning by an armed posse. Jackson, who drew a sentence of from two to fourteen years, had little to say before leaving except to express himself as being pleased that the sentence was not any greater. He told the sheriff that he expected to get a sentence of from ten to twenty years.

That Jackson was not alone in his trip to New Salem Monday night, and the theory that he had an accomplice has gained considerable strength in this city and in New Salem. Jackson, if he had an accomplice, absolutely refused to give the officers any intimation of the fact. He stuck to his original story that he walked from this city to New Salem, but this is not believed for several reasons.

People in New Salem firmly believe that there was at least one other man implicated in the crime and that he escaped before the crowd formed about the Weir store. Jackson was seen in this city as late as nine o'clock Monday night and for this reason it is hard for the officers to believe that he walked to New Salem.

Several people in New Salem recall hearing a buggy drive through on the main street shortly before the alarm that the store was being robbed was given. The theory is that Jackson was driven to New Salem and that he was caught while the other party was waiting. Some people in New Salem even go so far as to state that there were at least two other men with Jackson, and that during the excitement relative to the capture of Jackson the others succeeded in escaping.

Jackson is known to have been in the August Roth pool room as late as eight-thirty o'clock. He left this place in company with Frank Butts. Butts states that he went directly home and does not recall where he left Jackson and also does not know where Jackson went after leaving the pool room. Prosecutor Stevens questioned Jackson closely in the jail yesterday but was unable to find anything additional. He stoutly maintained that he walked to New Salem.

It has developed that Jackson also attempted to enter the Donche general store but failed. Apparently he tried to unlock the door with a skeleton key, but got the lock in such a position that he could not move the key either way.

Mrs. Medaline Clark has filed suit against John D. Hiner, on a lease, demanding $100. The barn on Morgan street commonly known as the bus barn is involved in the suit. Mrs. Clark alleges that she leased the barn for one year to Mr. Hiner and that he in turn leased one section to Bert Orme. She alleges that for some time she has received rent only in the sum of $30 a month when she should be receiving $60 a month.

Henry V. Logan has filed suit on a note and account against Lewis T. Bever, demanding $225.

LAST CONCERT OF SEASON

Band Will Make Its Farewell Appearance Tonight at 7:30.

The last band concert of the season will be given tonight at seven-thirty o'clock. Although the nights have been chilly, it was somewhat warmer today and it was thought that the band would have a good audience for its farewell appearance in 1915. No program had been prepared this afternoon, but it was said that the band had several new numbers which had not been used this season for introduction on the closing night.

SPECULATION SWEEPS COUNTRY

Great Throngs Crowd Curb in Wall Street and Feverish Excitement Reaches High Pitch.

DAYS OF 1907 ARE RECALLED

(By United Press.) New York, Sept. 29.—A great wave of speculation, besides which the feverish preceeding 1907 pale, is now sweeping the country from coast to coast, according to Wall street authorities today.

Great throngs are crowding the exchange and curb markets daily. Today standing room was hardly to be had on the curb. Perspiring, tugging, shouting men fought places while others crowded about the tickers.

Prices have been boosted to new high levels.

The Rushville Odd Fellows degree team will exemplify the third degree at the Shelby county meeting of Odd Fellows in Shelbyville Thursday, October 21. The Shelbyville newspapers say the Rushville team is reputed to be one of the ablest in the state.

SEE A PLOT TO ATTACK WATSON

Senatorial Candidate's Friends in State Federation of Labor Alive to Situation.

WILL THWART THE EFFORT

Part of General Plan, it is Said, to Place Control of Body in Hands of Democratic Organization.

Dispatches from Gary, where the state convention of union labor is being held, say that all sorts of resolutions are being prepared to be presented to the convention, among which is one arranged by Democratic labor leaders to attack the labor record of James E. Watson, of this city, Republican candidate for the nomination for the United States senate. However, it is reported that Watson's friends within the organization are active and some lively sessions will develop if the anti-Watson movement is started.

Forces already are organized, it is said, to make a hard fight to bring about a change of the federation's organic law so as to make it impossible for a member of the executive board of the federation to hold a political or public job while at the same time continuing on the executive board, according to a dispatch to the Indiana Times.

A Ft. Wayne resolution is expected to force the issue. President Fox, though holding a state job as mine inspector, has continued as a member of the federation's executive or inner organization, and as president of the federation. While Fox now is understood to be withdrawing from office in the federation, in compliance with the federation rule, at the same time, in case the second constitution is charged and in case political job holders are permitted to stay in federation offices, it is expected Fox and his friends will try to bring about Fox's re-election as president of the federation.

It is further pretty well understood an attempt will be made to fill the executive board of the Indiana Federation of Labor with Democrats in accord with Fox, Edgar A. Perkins and other democratic party workers who are influential in labor circles. To open the offices of the federation to job-holders, in the Indiana state administration, according to the Ft. Wayne insurrectionists, would mean to turn the control of the federation of labor over to the Democratic state organization. The fight, primarily, according to labor men on the ground, is to prevent the democratic organization from gaining control in the federation for political ends.

Another fight is expected when an attempt is made to pass resolutions praising and indorsing certain Democratic legislation in Indiana. Those who scent political plays from afar say the plan is to endorse laws instead of parties, but to bestow the benefits of such indorsement by implication on the Democratic organization.

It is planned, according to veracious report, to create a paid position under direction of the federation of labor, the agent of the federation to be sent over the state to inform labor as to the blessings and good points of the new Indiana work men's compensation act. The ostensible purpose of this agent would be to organize the wage workers to protect the compensation law against possible attack and repeal at the 1917 session of the Indiana legislature. The real purpose, according to wise head politicians would be to boost the Democratic

SOME FARMERS REGARD ADVISE

Will Not Sow Wheat Until Late in Fall to Avoid Attacks by the Hessian Fly.

EATS GRAIN ON WARM DAYS

Many Experience Difficulty in Drilling Because of Heavy Corn, Some of Which is Down.

Reports from over Rush county are that many farmers are taking the advice of the agricultural experiment stations and schools and will not sow their wheat until late. Many farmers are just now beginning to sow wheat and others have not yet started.

The advice not to sow wheat until late in the fall is given by experiment stations as a method to avoid attack by the Hessian fly. The ravages of those insects are worse in warm, dry weather. They do a great deal of harm, it is stated, to the young wheat and do not allow it to get a good start.

Some farmers, however, are disagreeing with this advice and are sticking to the old method of sowing wheat just as soon as possible in the fall. Reports from the Manilla neighborhood are to the effect that David Webster already has wheat three inches high.

It is said, however, that many farmers are experiencing difficulty in drilling wheat because the corn is down so badly. Heavy rains and hard winds in August and near the first of September caused some of the corn to topple over and this year it is so heavy that not much of it righted itself, farmers declare. Even though the corn were not down, sowing would be difficult because the corn is so heavy and hard to manage.

This will result in a big part of the wheat crop being sown on fallow ground. It is the general opinion that, in spite of the bad luck farmers had with wheat this year—in fact, which they have almost every year—the acreage will be near that sown last fall.

It was stated by one farmer today to be his opinion that a majority of the Rush county wheat crop would be sown the first ten days of October, providing the weather conditions are favorable. Farmers are anticipating nice weather most of October, because it has come to be regarded as the most favorable month of the whole year for outdoor work.

MORE THAN 300 GO DOWN WITH VESSEL

Italian Battleship Lost in Brindisi Harbor From Explosion in Powder Magazine.

NOT VICTIM OF AN ATTACK

(By United Press.) Rome, Sept. 29.—More than 300 lives are known to have been lost in the sinking of the Italian battleship Benedetto Brin in Brindisi harbor.

The ministry of marine today confirmed press reports of the disaster and reported no addition to the list of eight officers and 379 of the crew of 730 who were rescued. The death of Rear Admiral Zervin was also officially confirmed.

The explosion was caused by a burst of flame which reached a powder magazine aft. The origin of the fire has not been determined. The ship was not the victim of hostile attacks.

NEW RECORD FOR 'WAR TAX'

Telephone Company Pays $21.74 For Month of August.

The Rushville Co-operative Telephone company did a record business in the month of August in the long distance and toll department. A settlement with the government for the "war tax" for this month has just been made, the company paying $21.74. This means that a total of 2,174 long distance calls were made through the local office during the month. This is the largest amount paid the government since the so-called "war tax" law went into effect.

NEW COURSE IS VERY POPULAR

Commercial Department in High School Attracts Many Students by Its Practical Phase.

TO GIVE DEMONSTRATION

The book-keeping, stenography and typewriting course in the high school this year is immeasurably popular. The best test of its popularity is the number of students that are enrolled in the course. There are thirty alone in the class for short hand and typewriting and the equipment is not sufficient to take care of the large class. Four typewriters were first purchased, but the school board has found it necessary to buy another one. Some new furniture has been ordered and is expected to arrive some time next week.

When all of the equipment is here, E. W. Barrington, who is at the head of the commercial department, expects to invite a representative from each of the banks and newspapers and demonstrate that his course is practical and worth while. He uses no text books in bookkeeping. Professor Barrington maintains that he can equip his pupils just as well as if they took the course in an average business college. He is considering the proposition to conduct a night school in commercial work.

SEVERAL TRENCHES ARE RECAPTURED

German Official Statement Declares Allies Are Driven Back in Vicinity of Loss.

WAVE OF TROOPS ARE BROKEN

(By United Press.) Berlin, Sept. 29.—German troops have recaptured from the British several rows of trenches taken by the enemy north of Loss, it was officially announced this afternoon.

On every sector of the battlefront, Anglo-French attacks have been repulsed during the last twenty-four hours, the war office reported.

"We have been unable to eject the enemy from 100 meters of trenches northwest of Souchet," it was admitted, "but constantly advancing waves of French troops have broken down before our inflexible resistance."

James E. Watson's Sunday school class will give a penny social Wednesday evening in the parlors of St. Paul's M. E. church.

SAYS EXPENSES WERE ALL PAID

C. W. Clark, State Witness in Bell Case, Springs Surprise When Recalled by the Defense.

WOMAN ENTERS THE CASE

Saloon Keeper Says he Was Threatened by Chief of Police if he Didn't Support Ticket.

(By United Press.)

Indianapolis, Ind., Sept. 29.—Mayor Joseph E. Bell's defense in the election conspiracy trial sprung its first big sensation since the opening statement today when it recalled to the stand a state witness who testified that while he was waiting in Indianapolis to testify against Bell, clothes were bought him, his bills were all paid and a woman visited him in his hotel room at no expense to him.

Charles W. Clark, the witness, said he was brought to Indianapolis from Cumberland in an auto which he thought belonged to Bud Gibson. Gibson is one of the confessed conspirators.

"I was given over to a man named Wilson from the prosecutor's office," said Clark. "He took me out and bought me a pair of trousers. He said I seemed to need them. He took me to a show the next day. That night I was taken to a hotel in Wilson's custody."

"After I went to bed a woman knocked at my door. She said: 'Don't you want to have a little fun tonight?' He said he replied he had no money. 'You don't have to pay anything,' she told him, according to Clark.

"Did you see any expense account and was the woman mentioned in it?" asked Attorney Miller for the defense.

"Yes, there was an expense account," said Clark, "but the woman was not mentioned. The account had a breakfast that I didn't eat."

The defense had announced in the opening statement it would demonstrate that state witnesses were "schooled in perjury" and "bribed with the county's money" and that the county "paid for their women."

The prosecutor asked Clark whether he told the truth when he was on stand before and Clark answered that he had. His earlier testimony was not important.

That Chief of Police Perrott threatened Joseph Lane, a saloon keeper, was the substance of Lane's testimony today. He said he was called before Perrott at headquarters and asked whether he would support the Democratic organization ticket. Lane said he explained he was a Republican. He said Perrott told him, "You know how we stand for the next four years. We can do you a whole lot of good or a whole lot of harm."

Lane said he finally contributed $25.

In the Bell trial it developed that "Helen Bone" appeared on the re-

RAISING POULTRY For PROFIT

By John Wildig

People are now realizing the great necessity of getting rid of undesirable roosters in the hot summer months. This means so much more profit in the egg business. Now as the general rooster swat day has passed this year why not begin to think of this matter in time and keep such a sacrifice of so many old roosters as is now made each year in all parts of the country? I am sure this can be overcome by caponizing all the surplus cockerels this year. In answer to this suggestion there will be a great many people who will say it is too much trouble and others will say they do not know anything about raising capons and that it will not pay and all such things as that. The trouble is these people never tried it and do not know the facts about the matter. Of course, I will agree that there are chances of unsuccessful attempts. I know something about the matter as I have handled much caponizing for others and myself and can honestly say there is money in capons. The work is simple enough so that anybody with the right kind of tools and a few instructions can do it very successfully. There are several kinds of capon tools on the market but I prefer the automatic capon tool.

You should watch the cockerels of your flock and when their combs

begin to grow and get red and they weigh from one and one-half to cockerels you wish to caponize and confine them some place where they will not get any water or feed of any kind for about 24 to 30 hours. At the end of this time their intestines will be free of all food, which three pounds, that is the time to caponize them. If you are going to do the work yourself, catch all the will give you a clear view for your work because they will not bleed any.

The proper time for making your capons is at any time from July to September. If done then the capons will grow to a good size and will be just right for the spring market when it is at its best.

If you have never eaten of the sweet, juicy meat of a capon, you do not know of what fine quality poultry meat is, but you can have some idea if you will watch the market and note the prices obtained for them along in the early spring.

A rooster usually grows to weigh from six to nine pounds with a market price of from five to eight cents a pound. This means 72 cents for a nine-pound rooster. Capons will average in weight from eight to fourteen pounds with a market price averaging from 17 to 25 cents per pound. So it is easy to see which is the most profitable.

NEW YORK FASHION NOTES.

By MARGARET MASON

(Written for United Press.)

Make haste and take your girdle off. It's not good style they say. Though belted Earls may be good form.

The belted girl's passe.

New York, Sept. 29.—Here's something else to take off in the name of fashion, girdles and belts simply aren't to be worn this season. This stern decree may bring the blush to those who recall what a vital part the girdle plays on the 1915 evening gown. Rob an evening confection of this its last stay of stability and what have you. There's nothing to it. Since an evening gown consists solely of a giraffe and a shoulder strap a banishment of the giraffe is bound to leave much open to discussion. No doubt many will unbosom themselves unduly on the subject. It's bound to be mighty embarrassing for a fellow, too. How in the world can he tell whether his lady fair is wearing her waist in the middle or up under her shoulder blades with no distinguishing belt to blaze a trail. Even the poor girl herself is apt to be a bit dazed and mislay her waistline altogether. What with donning a normal waist-lined basque in the morning, a long-waisted Moya effect at noon and an Empire gown at night she's bound to lose her sense of waist location without a single belt to cling to. Just a mere milliner's fold of goods will join the bodices to skirts this year, a tiny cord or oftentimes just a seam. Naturally in the much heralded princess frocks no joining at the waistline is necessary and they may go to the head of the class of girdless gowns. Shirring, cording, smocking and godets are only a few of the many ways for finishing the waistlines now that the all swathing giraffe and the snug clasped belt have been removed from all fashionable centres.

You can enjoy a good laugh in any kind of a sleeve you want to this Fall and Winter for Bishop sleeves, puff sleeves and our old friend the leg of mutton will be among those present when the call comes to present arms. Leg of mutton sleeves particularly are due for a decided vogue and you will find them all puffed up in many a stunning gown. Long tight sleeves are still good style but an indication of puffing be it ever so tiny is beginning to be glimpsed at their start out from the arm hole and a decidedly puffy finish for them should not prove surprising. The flaring bell sleeves are very popular when edged with fur banding and make a fitting component part of a costume whose short flaring skirt is also thus furnished with fur.

Balloon sleeves, much tinier than the balloon sleeves of our salad days, now inflate themselves between the dropped shoulder seam to just below the elbow. A funny little short puff at the very top of the sleeves, with a long slim finish to the hand, is quaint and old fashioned. A banding of narrow fur often finishes the short puff and again repeats itself around the wrist or sometimes a tiny double shirring of the material does the same service. Transparent sleeves cling diaphanously, too, well rounded forearms and though there is nothing thick about them they have more than a slim chance of survival as the most fitting of sleeves. With their wierd propensity for erupting puffs at most unexpected places the only real thing about the Fall and winter sleeves is that they will be all long if they belong to the mode.

who has in the past few years become known as one of our best atmospheric writers. The production is under the personal management of Oliver Morosco, who is known now as one of our foremost American producers.

"The Bird of Paradise" is a sound ethical, political and racial lesson. It is also a strong virile drama, and contains a thoroughly absorbing love story. In brief, it deals with the love adventures of a young American physician, who falls in love with a native Hawaiian girl named Luana, who is endowed with all the seductive charm that these beautiful native women possess, but although in part a member of the Christian church, yet she has all the untamed passion of the savage. Another man who is a human derelict, is lifted out of the mess he has made of life, through the pure influence of an American girl, Diana, and finally takes his place in the world, a man again.

Manager Morosco, who has become famous for producing new leading women, will this year offer Miss Carlotta Monterey, a young Californian, who last season was with Lou Tellegen. She will play Luana. Others in the cast will be Hooper L. Atchley, as Paul Wilson; Richard Gordon as Dean, the bench-comber; Miss Jane Haven as Diana, and the sweet voiced Hawaiian singers, who help to make this wonderful play the most talked of drama of the century.

The Love of Health

If any one doubts that this is an era of health propaganda he must, indeed, be oblivious of what is going on about him. Municipal, state and national agencies are using forces and funds at their disposal to further interests of public hygiene. Educational influences are directing their energies to the spread of the lessons of procurable health in public print and in documents of both official and unofficial character. Novels and short stories, the literature of biography and travel, the platform and even the pulpit are proclaiming the gospel of health far and wide. The medical profession, more enthusiastic is not more vitally interested than any other group in the promotion and outcome of the modern hygienic movement, may well stop from time to time to inquire about the sanity of the methods of the propaganda. The religious doctrine of past ages involved the threat of harm; it inculcated a fear of the destruction or danger that was sure to follow the violation of the law. This dismal attitude has long since been replaced by a religion of love, of uplift and joyous anticipation. In the health propaganda, likewise, much of the pessimistic attitude, unconsciously perhaps, has been introduced in the past. The fear of disease has been held over the heads of the people. Rarely have we seen the more appropriate spirit of the modern "better health" movement better expressed than in a recent pamphlet of the Life Extension Institute. "It is not a fear of illness or of death that we should encourage, but a love of health, a sense of responsibility for the care of our bodies, a desire for bodily endurance and efficiency and full achievement. If the mind is fixed on these ideals, and the already known means of approaching them are utilized, the needless miseries that embitter the lives of so many may be left to take care of themselves. It is not so much necessary to fight disease as to cultivate health for the happiness, contentment and moral gain that it brings." There is something unusually optimistic and buoyant in such words, says The Journal of the American Medical Association. They embody the psychological cue to comfort and happiness for many a patient without implying that "man is incapable of sin, sickness and death" or that "health is not a condition of matter, but of mind." To inspire a love of health does not mean to exclude the great body of scientific knowledge which is the best that science can offer today regarding disease, or to replace medicine by crude metaphysics. The ardent love of health insures a mind receptive to the lessons of modern medicine.

ITS THREE YEARS OLD

But Mrs. Reynolds Says It's Just as Good Today as When it Was First Made.

Three years ago Mrs. Reynolds testified to complete relief from kidney ills.

She now says that there has not been the slightest return of the trouble.

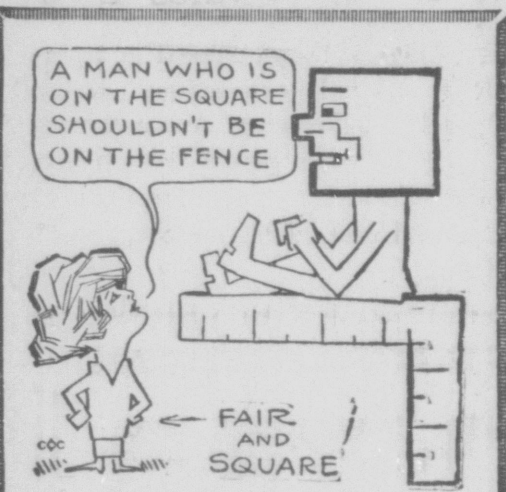

Rushville sufferers will take a deal of comfort in Mrs. Reynolds' statement.

Read what she says:

Mrs. B. W. Reynolds, 620 W. Fifth street, Rushville, says: "Doan's Kidney Pills are an excellent medicine and do all they are advertised to do. When we used 'Doan's Kidney Pills in our family, they proved very beneficial."

The above statement was given July 27, 1912, and on Aug. 26, 1915, Mrs. Reynolds said: "Doan's Kidney Pills were of great help to me when I used them and the cure they gave me has proven permanent. I gladly confirm my former endorsement."

A Lesson in Protection.

Every paper that can print anything worth reading.
Has something to say about the world's awful war.
But,
One of the war's greatest lessons we do not remember seeing mentioned anywhere—
Germany,
As a result of her almost inhuman,
Almost uncanny,
Almost altogether incomprehensible efficiency,
Is making all her own war supplies.
All her own munitions of every sort—
Her auto trucks—
Her steel supplies—
Is feeding her own country.
Is making and preparing all needful chemicals and hospital supplies.
And this means that,
Irrespective of the extent to which her finances may be crippled or involved, her national treasury exhausted, or her foreign exchange depreciated.
She has spent the money at home with her own people.
And they still have the gold in Germany.
While, with the entente powers, the situation is largely reversed.
They have been sending a regular Niagara-like deluge of gold to America.
For supplies and equipment of all kinds,
Depending, to a large extent upon foreign countries.
In other words—
And briefly—
Germany, by every means in her power, has
Concentrated, during all these years
All her energies
Upon building up her own people—
Her own industries—

Are YOU Like This Man?
Night after night he had gone home and found his wife tired, cross—worn out—yet after supper while he read the paper, she was in the kitchen toiling over the dishes. He decided he wasn't fair. A dollar was pretty small to stack against his wife's health and the happiness of his home.
"Here's My Dollar"
he said. "Send out one of them Hoosier Cabinets everybody's buying this week." We did, and now he and his wife both are happy.
Now men! How about your wife. Is she getting a fair deal from you? And women, are you fair to your family when you make a drudge out of yourself instead of a good wife, mother and companion?

LARGE CROSS IS ERECTED

Best Way to Prevent Disease From
Many Different Angles Discussed—Prominent Men to Speak

(By United Press.)
Indianapolis, Sept. 29.—With nearly 1,000 delegates attending from eighteen states, the Mississippi Valley Conference on Tuberculosis opened a three-day session here today.

The best way to prevent tuberculosis was discussed from the standpoint of the manufacturer, the large employer of labor, the employee, the patient, the doctor, the social worker, the editor and the state executive.

The conference was opened with short addresses by a number of Mississippi Valley governors. At noon today the delegation attended a "speechless banquet" at which Vice President Marshall presided. The delegates merely got acquainted at this banquet. They were given an opportunity to meet James Whitcomb Riley, Meredith Nicholson and other specially invited guests.

Upon arriving in Indianapolis the delegates were confronted with a monster double-barred cross, the symbol of the anti-tuberculosis fight. The cross is twenty-one feet high and is electrically lighted, said to be the biggest one ever constructed.

Speakers from fifteen Mississippi Valley states will explain in the next three days their ideas of how tuberculosis can best be prevented. Included in the list of speakers are Dr. Kennon Dunham, Cincinnati; Shirley P. Miller, of South Dakota College; Dr. Thomas Willett, Milwaukee; Dr. E. L. McGeehee, Hammond, La.; Dr. Theodore E. Sachs, Chicago, president of the National Association for the Prevention of Tuberculosis; John Voll, president of the Ohio State Federation of Labor; William Green, secretary of the United Mine Workers; Dr. E. R. Van der Sliepe, superintendent of the Nebraska State Tuberculosis hospital; C. W. Lillie, president of the Ohio State Medical Society; Dr. Hoyt E. Dearholt of Milwaukee and Dr. J. N. Harty, secretary of the Indiana State board of health.

The delegates were spurred on to greater activity by the announcement that each year 100,000 men, women and children are killed by tuberculosis and it was estimated that in the Mississippi Valley are now living 500,000 people suffering from the white plague.

Local arrangements for the conference were perfected by Walter D. Thurber, secretary of the conference.

NATIONAL "DRESS UP WEEK" IS ON US

Those Having Sufficient Clothes Are Urged to Dress up And Join
The Merry Throng

TO PROMOTE CONFIDENCE

This day, be it known, is close on to national "Dress Up Week" and all having sufficient clothes are urged to dress up. Like the "Buy it Now" movement, the "Buy a Bale of Cotton" and "Clean Up and Paint Up," movement it is designed to promote confidence and arouse the belief that things generally are prosperous. The Indiana Retail Clothiers' association has joined in the movement and is urging all clothing dealers to join in the propaganda.

The agitation culminates in "Dress Up Week" which officially opens October 1, day after tomorrow, and continues for the first eight days. Much ado has been made over "Dress Up Week" in Indianapolis and considerable publicity has been given the campaign.

The clothiers point out the fact that to dress up is to feel prosperous. Once the famous Beau Brummel, whose clothing was the reason for his fame as well as an irritation to his creditors, was asked why he wore silk undergarments when nobody could see and know that he wore them.

"It is only necessary that I should know it," replied the famous Beau. He wore good clothes for his personal satisfaction.

(By United Press.)
Lincoln, Neb., Sept. 29.—The 1916 prohibition campaign aimed to place Nebraska in the list of dry states was formally launched today. In the convention which opened here this morning and will continue for two days the anti-saloon forces of the state began planning their line of battle.

The preliminaries for the contest have been shaped and the pre-convention work has been in the hands of a committee which has been active for several months. With today's gathering however, the banners were flung to the breeze and the onslaught will now be with colors flying and with martial music.

The committee is planning to have a number of speakers of national reputation. Among them is W. J. Bryan, who it is believed will devote considerable time to a campaign to make his home state one of those which have placed the ban on the sale of liquor.

increasing the speed of their editorial munition factories and turning out hot shot for the opposition were discussed.

Compound.

Unionville, Mo.—"I suffered from a female trouble and I got so weak that I could hardly walk across the floor without holding on to something. I had nervous spells and my fingers would cramp and my face would draw, and I could not speak, nor sleep to do any good, had no appetite, and everyone thought I would not live."

Some one advised me to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I had taken so much medicine and my doctor said he could do me no good so I told my husband he might get me a bottle and I would try it. By the time I had taken it I felt better. I continued its use, and now I am well and strong.

"I have always recommended your medicine ever since I was so wonderfully benefitted by it and I hope this letter will be the means of saving some other poor woman from suffering."—Mrs. MARTHA SEAVEY, Box 1144, Unionville, Missouri.

The makers of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound have thousands of such letters as that above—they tell the truth, else they could not have been obtained for love or money. This medicine is no stranger—it has stood the test for years.

If there are any complications you do not understand write to Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co. (confidential) Lynn, Mass. Your letter will be opened, read and answered by a woman and held in strict confidence.

THINK SYSTEM FULL OF HORRORS

American Girls Cannot Understand How English Girls Can Become "War Brides"

FULL OF HUMAN INTEREST

Say They Would Not Here if This Country Were at War—Selfishness All Gone

BY WILLIAM G. SHEPHERD
(U. P. Staff Correspondent.)

London, Sept. 12 (By Mail)—The "war brides" question is loaded with human interest.

Two weeks ago, in the United States, I heard American girls giving their opinion of the "war brides" system. Since then I've talked to English girls about it.

"It's simply terrible," said one American girl, "if I understand it right. Is it true that young English officers come home from the front, get married, stay home only six or seven days and then go back to the front?"

"Yes, that's the 'war brides' system."

"It's awful," repeated the New York girl. "I don't see how the English girls stand it."

"What makes it seem awful to an American girl?"

"Well, in the first place, here's a girl, unmarried and perhaps unengaged. Her life is going smoothly. Maybe she becomes engaged to the soldier while he's at the front. He comes home. They're married. Then he goes back to the front again. Her husband has become her whole life. And there he is, under fire. It must be terrible.

"In the second place, suppose there's a baby. What kind of a baby can be born of a mother who is worrying all the months that she ought to have peace of mind? It isn't fair to the baby who is coming. The mother has two terrible things to worry about, it seems to me. One is whether her husband will live. The other is whether the baby will be weakened and made inferior because of the fact that she is worrying.

And, between these two worries, it seems to me that an English 'war bride' would go insane.

"All the girls I know think the 'war bride' system is full of horrors."

That's the American girl's side of it. Last night an English girl, who has two brothers at the front, listened to what the American girl has told me.

There was a queer little smile on her face, as she began to grasp her American sister's viewpoint. Then she said:

"They don't understand. They never would unless they come to England or unless their own country was in war.

"In the first place an English girl is proud to do something for England, no matter how small, if her man is to die, she's proud of having given him.

"But she'd rather give England her husband than her sweetheart. And the baby is part of him; if he must go, there's the baby. England has lost one man but she has put another man or woman in his place; she has filled the gap in the fighting line. You know, English girls find something awfully thrilling in that idea.

"I love what the Scotch newspapers are doing. Over their birth columns they put the headline, 'More soldiers for England.' You see an American girl can't understand how we feel because she doesn't understand what change war can make in a woman. You wait and see, you'll find that these babies of the 'war brides' will be the finest babies England ever had."

"Did you tell your American girl friends how English girls feel about it?" she asked.

"I did, and they said that a man would always take the wrong side of the question."

"Of course they said that. They couldn't understand. But English women think just as English men do about it, now. The war has changed the women. And American girls would feel just exactly as we

NEWSPAPERMEN BURY "GLOOM"

Appropriate Ceremonies Are Held at Exposition Christening Lagoon at "Tombstone Lake."

OBSEQUIES ARE IMPRESSIVE

Lot of Fun is Result Because of Scenes Occasionally Enacted in Front of the "Graves."

(By United Press.)

San Francisco, Sept. 29.—The "journalists" and common or garden variety of newspapermen who make themselves at home in the Press Building at the Exposition have discovered a source of keen amusement in the little grave where the San Francisco Press Club buried "Gloom" the same day they christened the big lagoon in front of the building "Tombstone Lake." All the scribes of the city took a hand in the ceremonies, not because the Diving Girls were there or because the hula-hula dancers from the Zone were on the job but simply because they felt that duty called.

And so "Gloom" was shot, drawn and quartered and laid to rest in the center of the pretty grass plot which flanks the west side of the Press Building. It's been some days since the obsequies were performed but the little sandy mound with its headstone still provokes mirth because of the scenes occasionally enacted on the lawn.

Will come an aged couple perhaps from Oskaloosa of Milpitas whose gaze has been arrested by the headstone. Reverently and on toe they approach, the member of the sterner sex with hat doffed while his gentle companion furtively unearths a handkerchief, prepared to shed a tear over the grave of some brave workman of the Exposition whose dying request may have been that he be laid to rest among the beauties of the fair. Whatever their thoughts, their faces reflect the inner feeling that there is one dark spot amid the beauties of the "big show."

They bend closer to decipher the inscription on the headstone. A startled and shocked expression fleets across their faces and with nervous glances at the windows of the Press Building they steal softly across the lawn and off toward the Tower of Jewels, masking a smile that inevitably admits they appreciate how they have been "stung." The little inscription on the headstone relieves their hearts in the twinkling of an eye for it carries seven column head, telling the world:

HERE LIES 'GLOOM.'

"Buried by the San Francisco Press Club."

do if they knew as much about war, as we do. In peace times women think of themselves too much. But war takes all the selfishness away."

QUARANTINE IS LIFTED IN SOUTH

9,000 Square Miles in This Territory is Freed, Making Cattle Available to Northern Buyers.

AVAILABLE FOR ANY PURPOSE

Heretofore They Had to be For Immediate Slaughter—Are Free From All Ticks

(By United Press.)

The freeing of over 9,000 square miles of southern territory from quarantine for sick cattle is of interest not only to stock raisers in that section but also to feeders in the grain belt who buy live southern cattle to fatten up for market. The raising of the quarantine on September 15 over a large territory in Mississippi, Alabama, Georgia and South Carolina means that for the first time live cattle can be shipped from the sections freed for anything but immediate slaughter, unless inspected clipped and certified by an Inspector of the Bureau of Animal Industry in accordance with federal regulation. Beginning with September 15, however, stockers and feeders have been shipped from this territory to northern markets for any purposes. Heretofore cattle from these sections when shipped had to go into the quarantine pens at the slaughter-houses and be turned at once into meat, irrespective of the prices then being offered for stockers and feeders.

The southern cattle raiser in the freed territory, moreover, not only gains the advantage of being able to sell his cattle in the free pens, but also is spared the trouble and extra cost of shipping them under quarantine conditions in the stock cars.

In all since 1908, when the dipping work was started a total of 262,469 square miles have been freed from the tick and released from quarantine. The work of dipping was done co-operatively by the counties, the States, and the Department of Agriculture. There still remains, however, 479,000 square miles in the South still tick-infested, from which live cattle can be shipped only under quarantine regulations.

Those in charge of the work report that where a territory is cleaned from ticks stock raising receives a great impetus not only because of the better marketing conditions then open because, with the tick dipped out of the county, breeding animals as animals so imported are peculiarly subject to Texas fever which is transmitted by this enemy of cattle in the South.

G.A.R. PARADE WAS FEATURE TODAY

(By United Press.)

Washington, Sept. 29.—Fifty years ago President Johnson sat in a stand in Pennsylvania avenue here and reviewed the victorious armies of Grant and Sherman. It took days for the armies to march by the chief executive. Today history repeated itself. The remnants of those two great armies passed in review. But it required only five hours for the fast thinning lines to pass before President Wilson.

Illinois was well represented in the "grand review" the boys of '65 from that state leading the procession. They wore uniform of that saw service at Bull Run, Chattanooga and Antietam. The Illinois veterans were escorted by two thousand members of the Sons of Veterans.

True Secret of Keeping Youthful Looking

(The Beauty Seeker.)

"The real secret of keeping young-looking and beautiful," says a well-known physician, "is to keep the liver and bowels normally active. Without these requisites, poisonous waste products remain in the system, polluting the blood and lodging in various organs, tissues, joints. One becomes flabby, obese, nervous, mentally sluggish, dull-eyed, wrinkled and sallow of face.

"But to get liver and bowels working as they ought, without producing evil after-effects, has been the problem. Fortunately, there is a prescription of unquestioned merit, which may now be had in convenient tablet form. Its value is due largely to an ingredient derived from the humble May apple, or its root, which has been called 'vegetable calomel' because of its effectiveness—though of course it is not to be classed with the real calomel of mercurial origin. There is no habit-forming constituent in 'sentinel' tablets—that's the name—and their use is not followed by weakness or exhaustion. On the contrary, these harmless vegetable tablets tend to impart tone and elasticity to the relaxed intestinal wall. Sentinel tablets, which may be procured from any druggist—a dime's worth will do—will prove a revelation to any constipated, liver-troubled person."

Chief Cause of Pimples, Blotches, Sallow Skin

(Messenger of Health.)

Unslightly eruptions, pimples, boils, blotches, sallow or muddy skin, usually are due to a sluggish liver, a constipated bowels—and a polluted blood stream as a consequence. How foolish in such cases to resort to outward applications, which can never have natural, permanent results. If more people only knew it, there is a very simple remedy, to be found in any drug store, which is as effective as it is harmless and quick acting. It is an old formula, long recognized by the medical profession, which has been put in tablet form, and at such small cost no one need now be deprived of its wonderful benefits.

"Sentinel tablets"—that's the name—are entirely vegetable and there's no habit-forming ingredient. You need only get about a dime's worth, and swallow one at bedtime to realize there's nothing else quite so good for the purpose. The action in the morning is so easy, so soothing, and instead of a weakening after-effect, you feel truly refreshed and invigorated. Sentinel tablets are not only the finest remedy known for constipation and torpid liver, but offer the sanest, most sensible treatment for complexion difficulties of the character mentioned.

Great Demand for New Constipation Remedy

They say that the advent of the "sentinel tablet" as a vegetable substitute for calomel has resulted in an extraordinary demand for this remarkable product. It seems to have made a hit particularly with those afflicted with chronic constipation, who were quick to recognize its advantages over calomel and the usual laxatives.

Sentinel tablets, aside from their efficacy, doubtless owe their success largely to a tendency to aid in bringing about natural functioning—instead of encouraging the "cathartic habit." Also, instead of injuring the membranous lining of the organs involved, they exert a healing influence. Instead of weakening, they add tone to the system. And they work so easily and gently, they are of course preferred on this account to the violently acting purgatives. Their inexpensiveness is another reason for the popularity of sentinel tablets. One need procure only a dime's worth, and take one tablet upon retiring, to be convinced that the ideal remedy for constipation, torpid liver, and their many evil consequences, has finally been found.—Druggists Review.

ENGLISH SYSTEM IS NOT PRACTICAL

Plan to Give Cabinet Members Seat in Congress is Not Likely in This Country

SITUATION DIFFERENT HERE

(By United Press.)

Washington, Sept. 29.—Replying to American exponents of the British system of giving Cabinet officers seats in Congress, Franklin K. Lane, Secretary of the Interior Department, told the United Press that in his estimation the scheme was neither "practicable nor advisable." "Speaking for myself," said Secretary Lane, "I would not have the time to use the seat in Congress if I had one. Cabinet positions in America are purely administrative positions as opposed to those in England, where the supervision of the various departments is mostly carried on by under-secretaries.

"As the situation is now, we Cabinet officers have all the opportunity desired to make clear our ideas and wishes to Congress. In the first place, the recommendations in our annual reports state our positions to Congress as clearly and forcibly as we could to state them if we addressed the members from the floor of the chamber. In the second place we have ample opportunity to appear before the Congressional committees and speak on any measure within our province.

In addition to that, all bills concerning our respective departments are submitted to us as soon as introduced for the purpose of getting our opinions on them. During the last session of Congress I wrote reports on 3,000 bills thus submitted. You can realize that I would have hardly had time to make three thousand speeches for or against them. "Looking at the proposition from the point of view of the Congressmen and Senators themselves, I do not believe they would favor the plan. I believe that the distinction between administration and legislation, as now recognized, is what they would continue to favor and insist upon."

NATION LOOKS INTO THE PAST

Little Like Stalwart Legions, 200,000 Strong, Which Paraded Same Ground Half Century Ago.

(Note—General Nelson A. Miles, Grand Marshal of today's review, who joined President Wilson on the reviewing stand when he and his escort had passed before the Executive, wrote for the United Press this description of the event and tribute to the men who marched.)

By GEN. NELSON A. MILES (Written for United Press.)

Washington, Sept. 29.—Washington looked today through the eyes of fifty years ago.

Its populace and visitors joined with the Nation's Executive in reviewing the scattered blue battalions of The Grand Army of the Republic, all that is left of the stalwart legions, 200,000 strong, who marched with youth's firm step before the White House in review with Sherman, Meade, Sheridan and Hancock at the close of the war that called the army into being.

Celebrated in the most beautiful capital, among the people of the strongest, most prosperous republic in the world, the 50th annual grand review of The Grand Army of the Republic epitomized and symbolized the spirit of our nation—Unity; and mighty influence on all humanity through unborn ages.

There in the vanguard of this body, unique and filled with the essence of tragedy and romance, marched the remnants of Logan's men—the troops from Illinois. John A. Logan is dead, but can it be I saw his shadow striding on beside them?

Few of the handful of old leaders who are left from the days of '61 and '65 passed here today. Wilson of Delaware, Dodge of Iowa, Brooks of Pennsylvania, and Peenypacker and Sheridan; Osterhaus of Illinois, Andrews of Minnesota, Connor of Maine and Louis Grant who fought with Andrews; Gregg, that grand old Pennsylvania cavalryman; Hardin of Chicago, Nickerson of Somerville, Paine of Massachusetts, Pierce of Michigan, Seward of Albany, Medford of Oregon—all still living, but not all here.

Their boys trooped by, though, rigid as the dragging chains of time permitted; and with them, in fancy, anyhow, if not in fact, their generals went marching on before.

Fifteenth in line marched what remains of the men who fought with George H. Thomas at Nashville. "The Rock of Chickamauga," we called him "The Noblest Roman of Them All." In Swinton's history you'll read that his army's Nashville campaign plan turned vanquishment into victory for us.

A naval banner streaming free above the stumbling ranks brought back the memory of John Ericsson. He is not here, but that small group which flew the ribboned ensign well could tell you all about him; how he dreamed the Monitor and heard it scoffed at; how Lincoln overruled the navy and ordered him to build the armored ship; and how at last it saved the Union craft the Merrimac was mowing down; and revolutionized all naval warfare.

Far down the line were the boys from Delaware; still among them was their gallant General, James H. Wilson, leader of one of the largest commands during the civil war and who rendered service again in the war with Spain.

Then there were the Pennsylvania boys, once led by the youthful General, George A. Pennypacker, who still alive carries in his person two confederate bullets.

In this parade of the Grand Army of the Republic, decaying through time though it is, there lie lines of a wonderful story; a story which few of us in this day of rush and bustle have time to pause and contemplate.

The Grand Army of the Republic was the outgrowth of circumstances and necessity. Political problems of generations' standing developed into hostilities. The prayer of the people of all sections was that the cup of bitterness might pass, but it was not to be; and the flower of manhood in all sections resorted to arms. Such an army—the remnant of which we see here today,—never was and probably, never again will be, recruited. A million boys 18 or under, and 2 million 21 or under, answered the call to the colors. The great bulk of the army was composed of men under 25.

The theatre of war extended from the Potomac to the Rio Grande. Through much fighting there were many drawn battles though few decisive engagements. Altogether it was a 4 years' war of exhaustion in personnel and material that continued until the South was on the verge of bankruptcy. At the close of this war of Americans against Americans there was universal rejoicing in every part of the country, though gloom and sorrow overshadowed many hearts and homes.

The terrible, fierce animosity and strong prejudice that had actuated the hearts and nerved the arms of all during the struggle, were buried in the last entrenchments. The black-mouthed cannon were forever silenced. The war drums throbbed no longer and the battle-flags were furled; and as the smoke of conflict rolled away, the negroes of both armies clasped hands and pledged eternal fidelity and allegiance to their reunited country.

These then young men, who between '61 and '65 tramped many battlefields, have been engaged for years in business activities or professions; or they have become governors, statesmen, pioneer and home-builders in the mighty west.

NORTHERN BRANCH MEETS

(By United Press.)

South Bend, Ind., Sept. 29.—Prohibition and new means of getting it was one of the questions considered by the annual Northwest Indiana Methodist conference which convened here today. The conference will close Octobr 4 when the ministerial assignments for the coming year will be made. Prominent Methodists, ministers and laymen including former vice-president Charles W. Fairbanks, former Gov. W. T. Durbin, and the Rev. Bertram M. Tipple, head of the American church and college at Rome, will address the conference.

To the Business Men of RUSHVILLE

When a good salesman goes out after business, he first puts on a clean collar and gets his shoes shined. Then he looks like more business—and he's made a flying start toward getting it. Likewise, a community can go after more business—and get it. The "clean collar and shiny shoes" of this town are the well-painted stores, the bright, cheery homes, the fresh, clean-looking buildings. The part paint plays in building up local pride cannot be put in figures—but its good effects are recorded on the local merchants' sales sheets. Buy good paint. We recommend and sell

Designs as shown by some firms are more or less freakish or fadish to attract the attention of the prospective customers with scarcely a thought of their wearing appearance or correctness in proportion. But then they are merely on paper and represent but a small loss if they don't take.

We have faith in our ability as ractical designers and as proof we show at our works a most complete selection of ready to erect monuments designed by our nationally recognized designer, Mr. A. H. Schrichte.

New suits that you will enthuse about are just unpacked—so advanced in idea, so splendidly made, that you can buy and wear them now, and through the winter, too, and find that at the end of the season, they will still be in the lead of the mode—still fresh-looking and perfect in shape.

Perhaps you are going away this Fall? Much of the pleasure of your trip will be in the admiring glances your fashionable new suit will bring. And even if you plan to stay at home, you will still be judged by your appearance, as you unconsciously judge others.

Briefly, you need a new suit—such as these just on display.

DIES AFTER ONE WEEK'S ILLNESS

Mrs. Mary Hawk Expires of Kidney Trouble and Gall Stones at Home West of Arlington.

MOTHER OF NINE CHILDREN

Mrs. Mary Hawk, forty-eight years old, wife of E. Hawk, died at her home west of Arlington Tuesday afternoon of kidney trouble and gall stones. Her death was not expected as she was ill only a short time. She took sick a week ago last Monday and the Thursday following her condition became critical. Mrs. Hawk was a member of the Fairview M. P. church.

Mrs. Hawk's entire life was spent in Shelby county. During her younger years her home was in the Ray churches neighborhood, northwest of Shelbyville, but she had lived in the Morristown community since her marriage to Mr. Hawk, twenty-three years ago. She was the mother of nine children, two of whom are dead. Those who survive are five sons and two daughters, namely Willie, Lanta, Glen, Herbert, Oris, Fern and Geneva. All are at home save the first named who is married and is living on his father's farm, two and one-half miles west of Morristown. Deceased leaves, also, two sisters, one of whom, Mrs. Addie Coleman, lives near Shelbyville. The other sister lives in Louisville, Ky.

Those about the Marion county criminal court who are used to hearing Judge Eichorn give an extemporaneous opinion on intricate points of law concerning conspiracies without the use of an unnecessary word have taken great pleasure in repeating the story that in some unknown manner reached here from Bluffton, his home town.

Judge Eichorn, the story goes, likes to hunt squirrels but that he doesn't always hit what he aims at. One day he was wasting more lead than usual. Eichorn had taken about 20 shots at the bushy tail without success. At first the squirrel moved about some, but it finally decided that the safest thing to do was to lie still, for if it moved too much, it might fall off the limb and get hurt.

WILSON SHOWS EMOTION

Tears Gather in His Eyes as he Reviews Army Veterans.

(By United Press.)

Washington, Sept. 29.—President Wilson wept today as he reviewed the parade of the Grand Army veterans. Tears gathered in his eyes time and again. He was not alone in his emotion for as thousands from the city of Washington and the 100,000 visitors watched the broken ranks, there were few dry eyes.

The President stood on the exact spot where fifty years ago President Andrew Jackson stood and saw these same men, then stalwart soldiers in their prime, pass in close rank up the avenue to be disbanded after their four years of bloody struggle.

RAISING POULTRY For PROFIT

By John Wildig

People are now realizing the great necessity of getting rid of undesirable roosters in the hot summer months. This means so much more profit in the egg business. Now, as the general rooster swat day has passed this year why not begin to think of this matter in time and keep such a sacrifice of so many old roosters as is now made each year in all parts of the country? I am sure this can be overcome by caponizing all the surplus cockerels this year. In answer to this suggestion there will be a great many people who will say it is too much trouble and others will say they do not know anything about raising capons and that it will not pay and all such things as that. The trouble is these people never tried it and do not know the facts about the matter. Of course, I will agree that there are chances of unsuccessful attempts. I know something about the matter as I have handled much caponizing for others and myself and can honestly say there is money in capons. The work is simple enough so that anybody with the right kind of tools and a few instructions can do it very successfully. There are several kinds of capon tools on the market but I prefer the automatic capon tool.

You should watch the cockerels of your flock and when their combs

begin to grow and get red and they weigh from one and one-half to cockerels you wish to caponize and confine them some place where they will not get any water or feed of any kind for about 24 to 30 hours. At the end of this time their intestines will be free of all food, which three pounds, that is the time to caponize them. If you are going to do the work yourself, catch all the will give you a clear view for your work because they will not bleed any.

The proper time for making your capons is at any time from July to September. If done then the capons will grow to a good size and will be just right for the spring market when it is at its best.

If you have never eaten of the sweet, juicy meat of a capon, you do not know of what fine quality poultry meat is, but you can have some idea if you will watch the market and note the prices obtained for them along in the early spring.

A rooster usually grows to weigh from six to nine pounds with a market price of from five to eight cents a pound. This means 72 cents for a nine-pound rooster. Capons will average in weight from eight to fourteen pounds with a market price averaging from 17 to 25 cents per pound. So it is easy to see which is the most profitable.

NEW YORK FASHION NOTES.

By MARGARET MASON
(Written for United Press.)

Make haste and take your girdle off. It's not good style they say. Though belted Ears may be good form.

The belted girl's passe.

New York, Sept. 29.—Here's something else to take off in the name of Fashion, girdles and belts simply aren't to be worn this season. This stern decree may bring the blush to those who recall what a vital part the girdle plays on the 1915 evening gown. Rob an evening confection of this its last stay of stability and what have you. There's nothing to it. Since an evening gown consists solely of a girle and a shoulder strap a banishment of the girle is bound to leave much open to discussion. No doubt many will unbosom themselves unduly on the subject. It's bound to be mighty embarrassing for a fellow, too. How in the world can he tell whether his lady fair is wearing her waist in the middle or up under her shoulder blades with no distinguishing belt to blaze a trail. Even the poor girl herself is apt to be a bit dazed and mislay her waistline altogether. What with donning a normal waist-lined basque in the morning, a long-waisted Moven effect at noon and an Empire gown at night, she's bound to lose her sense of waist location without a single belt to cling to.

Just a mere milliner's fold of goods will join the bodices to skirts this year, a tiny cord or oftines just a seam. Naturally in the much heralded princess frocks no joining at the waistline is necessary and they may go to the head of the class of girlless gowns. Shirring, cording, smocking and godets are only a few of the many ways for finishing the waistlines now that the all swathing girdle and the snug clasped belt have been removed from all fashionable centres.

You can enjoy a good laugh in any kind of a sleeve you want to this Fall and Winter for Bishop sleeves, puff sleeves and our old friend the leg of mutton will be among those present when the call comes to present arms. Leg of mutton sleeves particularly are due for a decided vogue and you will find them all puffed up in many a stunning gown. Long tight sleeves are still good style but an indication of puffing be it ever so tiny is beginning to be glimpsed at their start out from the arm hole and a decidedly puffy finish for them should not prove surprising. The flaring bell sleeves are very popular when edged with fur banding and make a fitting component part of a costume whose short flaring skirt is also thus furnished with fur.

Balloon sleeves, much tinier than the balloon sleeves of our salad days, now inflate themselves between the dropped shoulder seam to just below the elbow. A funny little short puff at the very top of the sleeves, with a long slim finish to the hand, is quaint and old fashioned. A banding of narrow fur often finishes the short puff and again repeats itself around the wrist or sometimes a tiny double shirring of the material does the same service. Transparent sleeves cling diaphanously, too, well rounded forearms and though there is nothing thick about them they have more than a slim chance of survival as the most fitting of sleeves. With their wierd propensity for erupting puffs at most unexpected places the only real thing about the Fall and winter sleeves is that they will be all long if they belong to the mode.

BLOCK THE PATH TO GERMAN BASE

French Troops Take Hill No. 140 in Flanders and Endanger the Enemy's Position.

N O MORE DASHING VICTORIES

BY ED L KEENE

(U. P. Staff Correspondent.)
London, Sept. 29.—The fiercest infantry fighting on the entire western Flanders front is now going on west of Vimy just north of Arras.

The French are concentrating their attack on the range of Vimy heights, blocking the paths to the important German railway center and base of Douai. This afternoon's official French statement reported the capture of Hill No. 140, one of the most important crests of the Vimy region, dominating other hills where the Germans lie strongly entrenched. If the position is maintained, it will be possible for the French to begin a long distance bombardment of Douai.

The official report tended to confirm the impression that no more dashing victories in the Champagne region, like the one of last Saturday, are to be expected within the next few days. Though Paris claims further progress in the Champagne region, there is evidence that the Germans have stiffened their resistance there.

In "The Bird of Paradise," which will be seen at the Shubert Murat Theater, Indianapolis, for one week, commencing Monday evening, October 4th, we will see a play that is now in its fifth season on the road, and each year it becomes more firmly entwined around the hearts of the theatergoers of this city. The piece is by Richard Walton Tully, author of "Omar the Tentmaker."

who has in the past few years become known as one of our best atmospheric writers. The production is under the personal management of Oliver Morosco, who is known now as one of our foremost American producers.

"The Bird of Paradise" is a sound ethical, political and racial lesson. It is also a strong virile drama, and contains a thoroughly absorbing love story. In brief, it deals with the love adventures of a young American physician, who falls in love with a native Hawaiian girl named Luana, who is endowed with all the seductive charm that these beautiful native women possess, but although in part a member of the Christian church, yet she has all the untamed passion of the savage. Another man who is a human derelict, is lifted out of the mess he has made of life, through the pure influence of an American girl, Diana, and finally takes his place in the world, a man again.

Manager Morosco, who has become famous for producing new leading women, will this year offer Miss Carlotta Monterey, a young Californian, who last season was with Lou Tellegen. She will play Luana. Others in the cast will be Hopper L. Atchley, as Paul Wilson; Richard Gordon as Dean, the benefactor; Miss Jane Haven as Diana, and the sweet voiced Hawaiian singers, who help to make this wonderful play the most talked of drama of the century.

Hargrove & Mullin of this city, are the local representatives of the Shubert Murat Theater, Indianapolis, and citizens can buy tickets direct from them for the performance they wish to attend.

ITS THREE YEARS OLD

But Mrs. Reynolds Says It's Just as Good Today as When it Was First Made.

Three years ago Mrs. Reynolds testified to complete relief from kidney ills.

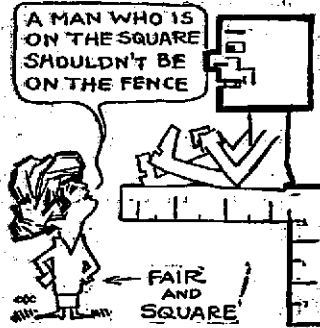

She now says that there has not been the slightest return of the trouble.

Rushville sufferers will take a deal of comfort in Mrs. Reynolds' statement.

Read what she says:
Mrs. B. W. Reynolds, 620 W. Fifth street, Rushville, says: "Doan's Kidney Pills are an excellent medicine and do all they are advertised to do. When we used 'Doan's Kidney Pills in our family, they proved very beneficial."

The above statement was given July 27, 1912, and on Aug. 26, 1915, Mrs. Reynolds said: "Doan's Kidney Pills were of great help to me when I used them and the cure they gave me has proven permanent. I gladly confirm my former endorsement."

ational influences are directing their energies to the spread of the lessons of procurable health in public print and in documents of both official and unofficial character. Novels and short stories, the literature of biography and travel, the platform and even the pulpit are proclaiming the gospel of health far and wide. The medical profession, more enthusiastic is not more vitally interested than any other group in the promotion and outcome of the modern hygienic movement, may well stop from time to time to inquire about the sanity of the methods of the propaganda. The religious doctrine of past ages involved the threat of harm; it inculcated a fear of the destruction or danger that was sure to follow the violation of the law. This dismal attitude has long since been replaced by a religion of love, of uplift and joyous anticipation. In the health propaganda, likewise, much of the pessimistic attitude, unconsciously perhaps, has been introduced in the past. The fear of disease has been held over the heads of the people. Rarely have we seen the more appropriate spirit of the modern "better health" movement better expressed than in a recent pamphlet of the Life Extension Institute. "It is not a fear of illness or of death that we should encourage, but a love of health, a sense of responsibility for the care of our bodies, a desire for bodily endurance and efficiency and full achievement. If the mind is fixed on these ideals, and the already known means of approaching them are utilized, the needless miseries that embitter the lives of so many may be left to take care of themselves. It is not so much necessary to fight disease as to cultivate health for the happiness, contentment and moral gain that it brings." There is something unusually optimistic and buoyant in such words, says The Journal of the American Medical Association. They embody the psychological cue to comfort and happiness for many a patient without implying that "man is incapable of sin, sickness and death" or that "health is not a condition of matter, but of mind." To inspire a love of health does not mean to exclude the great body of scientific knowledge which is the best that science can offer today regarding disease, or to replace medicine by crude metaphysics. The ardent love of health insures a mind receptive to the lessons of modern medicine.

A Lesson in Protection.

Every paper that can print anything worth reading.

Has something to say about the world's awful war.

But, One of the war's greatest lessons we do not remember seeing mentioned anywhere—

Germany,

As a result of her almost inhuman,

Almost uncanny,

Almost altogether incomprehensible efficiency,

Is making all her own war supplies.

All her own munitions of every sort—

Her auto trucks—

Her steel supplies—

Is feeding her own country.

Is making and preparing all needful chemicals and hospital supplies.

And this means that,

Irrespective of the extent to which her finances may be crippled or involved, her national treasury exhausted, or her foreign exchange depreciated.

She has spent the money at home with her own people.

And they still have the gold in Germany.

While, with the entente powers, the situation is largely reversed.

They have been sending a regular Niagara-like deluge of gold to America.

For supplies and equipment of all kinds.

Depending, to a large extent upon foreign countries.

In other words—

And briefly—

Germany, by every means in her power, has

Concentrated, during all these years

All her energies

Upon building up her own people

Her own industries—

Are YOU Like This Man?

Night after night he had gone home and found his wife tired, cross—worn out—yet after supper while he read the paper, she was in the kitchen toiling over the dishes. He decided he wasn't fair. A dollar was pretty small to stack against his wife's health and the happiness of his home.

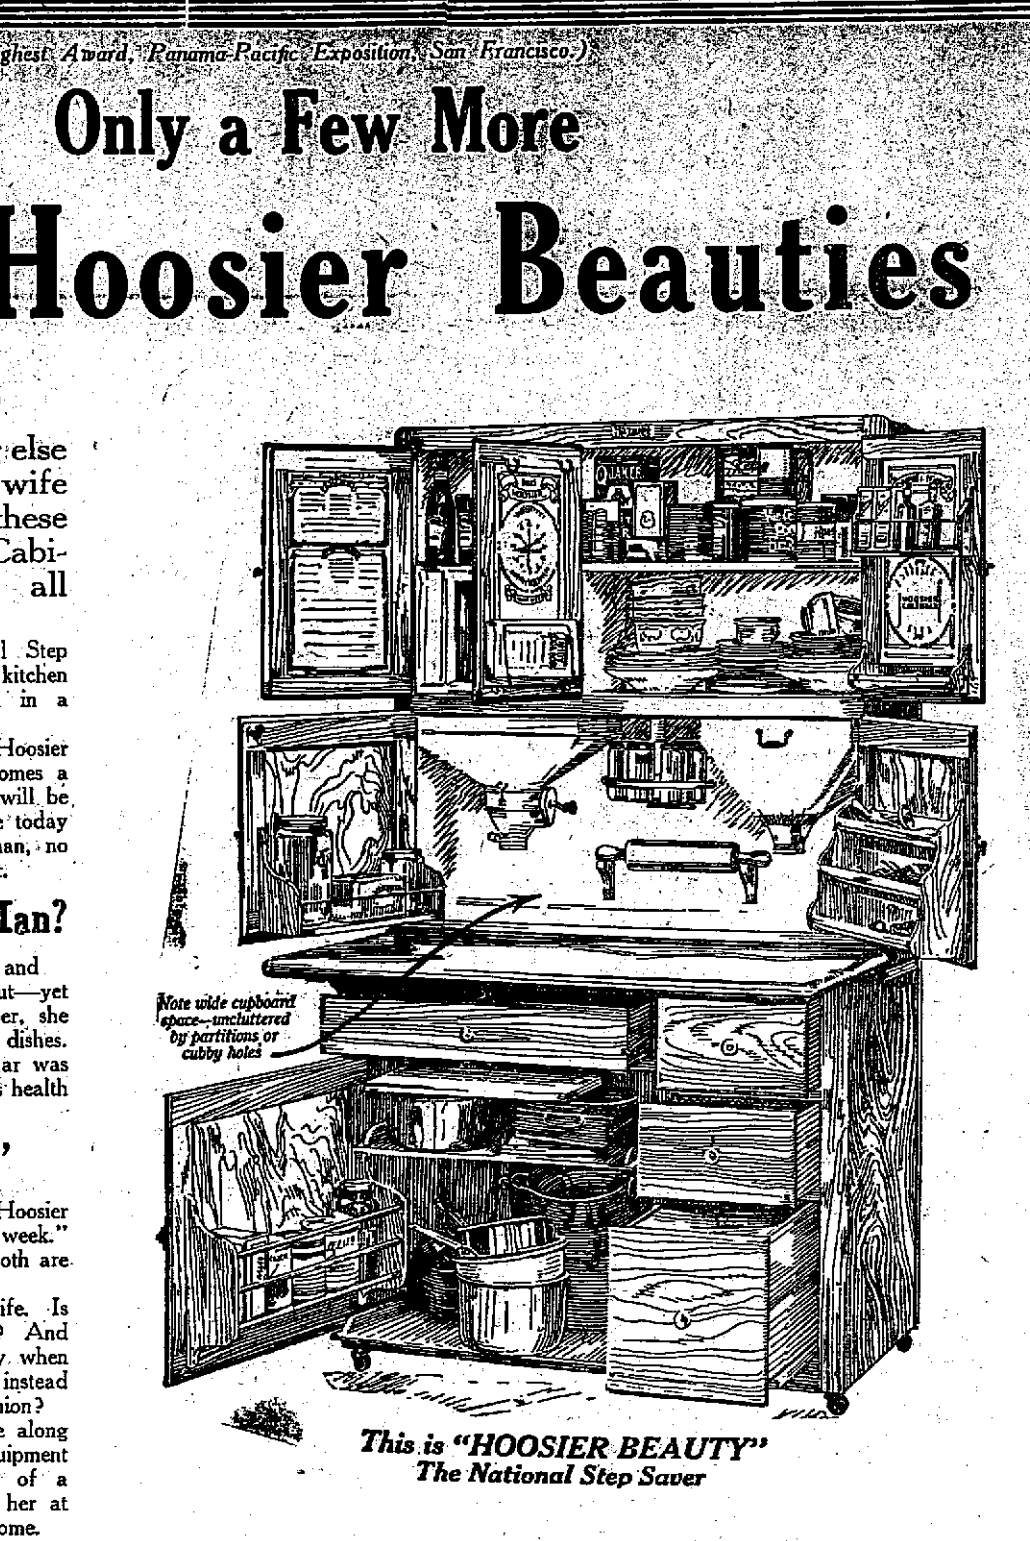

"Here's My Dollar"

he said. "Send out one of them Hoosier Cabinets everybody's buying this week." We did, and now he and his wife both are happy.

Now men! How about your wife. Is she getting a fair deal from you? And women, are you fair to your family when you make a drudge out of yourself instead of a good wife, mother and companion?

No woman has a right to drudge along with old-fashioned, out-of-date equipment when the remarkable convenience of a Hoosier Cabinet is now brought to her at a price within the reach of any income.

We have had a wonderful sale this week—These new Hoosiers have been the talk of the town. The sale may close tomorrow. It ends when this small lot is gone. While they last, a single dollar

LEAKE TO OPPOSE SANFORD

The fans here will have one more opportunity of seeing the Rushers in action. It has been decided to play the last game Sunday, when Manager Davidson's crew will tackle Jack Benny's All-Pros. This should be the best game of the season. Benny's team is one of the best out of Cincinnati and is composed of men who had league experience. The team is made up of players recently returned from the leagues.

Al Leake, whose work as a pitcher is well known here, will pitch for the All-Pros and will be opposed by Ed Sanford for the Rushers. This should insure the fans of a great pitchers' battle as both men are of high class. The Rushville team will lineup in the usual manner. With Leake and Sanford pitching a great game can be expected. Humpty Badel and all the regulars will be here. The game will be called at 2:30 o'clock.

Nearly 1,000 Delegates Attending Mississippi Valley Conference in Indianapolis.

LARGE CROSS IS ERECTED

Best Way to Prevent Disease From Many Different Angles Discussed—Prominent Men to Speak

(By United Press.)
Indianapolis, Sept. 29.—With nearly 1,000 delegates attending from eighteen states, the Mississippi Valley Conference on Tuberculosis opened a three-day session here today.

The best way to prevent tuberculosis was discussed from the standpoint of the manufacturer, the large employer of labor, the employee, the patient, the doctor, the social worker, the editor and the state executive.

The conference was opened with short addresses by a number of Mississippi Valley governors. At noon today the delegation attended a "speechless banquet" at which Vice-President Marshall presided. The delegates merely got acquainted at this banquet. They were given an opportunity to meet James Whitcomb Riley, Meredith Nicholson and other specially invited guests.

Upon arriving in Indianapolis the delegates were confronted with a monster double-barred cross, the symbol of the anti-tuberculosis fight. The cross is twenty-one feet high and is electrically lighted, said to be the biggest one ever constructed.

Speakers from fifteen Mississippi Valley states will explain in the next three days their ideas of how tuberculosis can best be prevented. Included in the list of speakers are Dr. Kennon Dunham, Cincinnati; Shirley P. Miller, of South Dakota College; Dr. Thomas Willett, Milwaukee; Dr. E. M. McGeehee, Hammond, La.; Dr. Theodore E. Sachs, Chicago, president of the National Association for the Prevention of Tuberculosis; Joan Voll, president of the Ohio State Federation of Labor; William Green, secretary of the United Mine Workers; Dr. E. R. Van der Sliee, superintendent of the Nebraska State Tuberculosis hospital; C. W. Lillie, president of the Ohio State Medical Society; Dr. Hoyt E. Dearholt of Milwaukee and Dr. J. N. Hurty, secretary of the Indiana State board of health.

The delegates were spurred on to greater activity by the announcement that each year 100,000 men, women and children are killed by tuberculosis and it was estimated that in the Mississippi Valley are now living 500,000 people suffering from the white plague.

Local arrangements for the conference were perfected by Walter D. Thurber, secretary of the conference.

Lincoln, Neb., Sept. 29.—The 1916 prohibition campaign aimed to place Nebraska in the list of dry states was formally launched today. In the convention which opened here this morning and will continue for two days the anti-saloon forces of the state began planning their line of battle.

The preliminaries for the contest have been shaped and the pre-convention work has been in the hands of a committee which has been active for several months. With today's gathering however, the banners were flung to the breeze and the onslaught will now be with colors flying and with martial music.

The committee is planning to have a number of speakers of national reputation. Among them is W. J. Bryan, who it is believed will devote considerable time to a campaign to make his home state one of those which have placed the ban on the sale of liquor.

NATIONAL DRESS UP WEEK IS ON US

Those Having Sufficient Clothes Are Urged to Dress up And Join The Merry Throng

TO PROMOTE CONFIDENCE

This day, be it known, is close on to national "Dress Up Week" and all having sufficient clothes are urged to dress up. Like the "Buy it Now" movement, the "Buy a Bale of Cotton" and "Clean Up and Paint Up" movement it is designed to promote confidence and arouse the belief that things generally are prosperous. The Indiana Retail Clothiers' association has joined in the movement and is urging all clothing dealers to join in the propaganda.

The agitation culminates in "Dress Up Week" which officially opens October 1, day after tomorrow, and continues for the first eight days. Much ado has been made over "Dress Up Week" in Indianapolis and considerable publicity has been given the campaign.

The clothiers point out the fact that to dress up is to feel prosperous. Once the famous Beau Brummel, whose clothing was the reason for his fame as well as an irritation to his creditors, was asked why he wore silk undergarments when nobody could see and know that he wore them.

"It is only necessary that I should know it," replied the famous Beau. He wore good clothes for his personal satisfaction.

THOUGHT SHE COULD NOT LIVE

Restored to Health by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Unionville, Mo.—"I suffered from a female trouble and I got so weak that I could hardly walk across the floor without holding on to something. I had nervous spells and my fingers would cramp and my face would draw, and I could not speak, nor sleep to do any good, had no appetite, and everyone thought I would not live. Some one advised me to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I had taken so much medicine and my doctor said he could do me no good so I told my husband he might get me a bottle and I would try it. By the time I had taken it I felt better. I continued its use, and now I am well and strong."

"I have always recommended your medicine ever since I was so wonderfully benefited by it and I hope this letter will be the means of saving some other poor woman from suffering."—Mrs. MARIETHA SEAVEY, Box 1144, Unionville, Missouri.

The makers of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound have thousands of such letters as that above—they tell the truth, else they could not have been obtained for love or money. This medicine is no stranger—it has stood the test for years.

If there are any complications you do not understand write to Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co. (confidential) Lynn, Mass. Your letter will be opened, read and answered by a woman and held in strict confidence.

THINK SYSTEM FULL OF HORRORS

American Girls Cannot Understand How English Girls Can Become "War Brides"

FULL OF HUMAN INTEREST

Say They Would Not Here if This Country Were at War—Selfishness All Gone

BY WILLIAM G. SHEPHERD
(U. S. Staff Correspondent.)
London, Sept. 12 (By Mail)—The "war brides" question is loaded with human interest.

Two weeks ago, in the United States, I heard American girls giving their opinion of the "war brides" system. Since then I've talked to English girls about it. "It's simply terrible," said one American girl, "if I understand it right. Is it true that young English officers come home from the front, get married, stay home only six or seven days and then go back to the front?"

"Yes, that's the 'war brides' system."

"It's awful," repeated the New York girl. "I don't see how the English girls stand it."

"What makes it seem awful to an American girl?"

"Well, in the first place, here's a girl, unmarried and perhaps unengaged. Her life is going smoothly. Maybe she becomes engaged to the soldier while he's at the front. He comes home. They're married. Then he goes back to the front again. Her husband has become her whole life. And there he is, under fire. It must be terrible.

"In the second place, suppose there's a baby. What kind of a baby can be born of a mother who is worrying all the months that she ought to have peace of mind? It isn't fair to the baby who is coming. The mother has two terrible things to worry about, it seems to me. One is whether her husband will live. The other is whether the baby will be weakened and made inferior because of the fact that she is worrying. And, between these two worries, it seems to me that an English 'war bride' would go insane.

"All the girls I know think the 'war bride' system is full of horrors."

That's the American girl's side of it. Last night an English girl, who has two brothers at the front, listened to what the American girl has told me.

There was a queer little smile on her face, as she began to grasp her American sister's viewpoint. Then she said:

"They don't understand. They never would unless they come to England or unless their own country was at war.

"In the first place an English girl is proud to do something for England, no matter how small, if her man is to die, she's proud of having giving him.

"But she'd rather give England her husband than her sweetheart. And the baby is part of him; if he must go, there's the baby. England has lost one man but she has put another man or woman in his place; she has filled the gap in the fighting line. You know, English girls find something awfully thrilling in that idea.

"I love what the Scotch newspapers are doing. Over their birth columns they put the headline, 'More soldiers for England.' You see an American girl can't understand how we feel because she doesn't understand what change war can make in a woman. You wait and see, you'll find that these babies of the 'war brides' will be the finest babies England ever had."

"Did you tell your American girl friends how English girls feel about it?" she asked.

"I did, and they said that a man would always take the wrong side of the question."

"Of course they said that. They couldn't understand. But English women think just as English men do about it now. The war has changed the women. And American girls would feel just exactly as we

NEWSPAPERMEN BURY "GLOOM"

Appropriate Ceremonies Are Held at Exposition Christening Lagoon at "Tombstone Lake."

OBSEQUIES ARE IMPRESSIVE

Lot of Fun is Result Because of Scenes Occasionally Enacted in Front of the "Graves."

(By United Press.)

San Francisco, Sept. 29.—The "journalists" and common or garden variety of newspapermen who make themselves at home in the Press Building at the Exposition have discovered a source of keen amusement in the little grave where the San Francisco Press Club buried "Gloom" the same day they christened the big lagoon in front of the building "Tombstone Lake." All the scribes of the city took a hand in the ceremonies, not because the Diving Girls were there or because the hula-hula dancers from the Zone were on the job but simply because they felt that duty called.

And so "Gloom" was shot, drawn and quartered and laid to rest in the center of the pretty grass plot which flanks the west side of the Press Building. It's been some days since the obsequies were performed but the little sandy mound with its headstone still provokes mirth because of the scenes occasionally enacted on the lawn.

Will come an aged couple perhaps from Oskaloosa of Milpitas whose gaze has been arrested by the headstone. Reverently and on too they approach, the member of the sterner sex with hat doffed while his gentle companion furtively unearths a handkerchief, prepared to shed a tear over the grave of some brave workman of the Exposition whose dying request may have been that he be laid to rest among the beauties of the fair. Whatever their thoughts, their faces reflect the inner feeling that there is one dark spot amid the beauties of the "big show."

They bend closer to decipher the inscription on the headstone. A startled and shocked expression fleets across their faces and with nervous glances at the windows of the Press Building they steal softly across the lawn and off toward the Tower of Jewels, masking a smile that inevitably admits they appreciate how they have been "stung." The little inscription on the headstone relieves their hearts in the twinkling of an eye for it carries seven column head, telling the world: HERE LIES "GLOOM."
"Buried by the San Francisco Press Club."

do if they knew as much about war, as we do. In peace times women think of themselves too much. But war takes all the selfishness away."

QUARANTINE IS LIFTED IN SOUTH

9,000 Square Miles in This Territory is Freed, Making Cattle Available to Northern Buyers.

AVAILABLE FOR ANY PURPOSE

Heretofore They Had to be For Immediate Slaughter—Are Free From All Ticks

(By United Press.)

The freeing of over 9,000 square miles of southern territory from quarantine for sick cattle is of interest not only to stock raisers in that section but also to feeders in the grain belt who buy live southern cattle to fatten up for market. The raising of the quarantine on September 15 over a large territory in Mississippi, Alabama, Georgia and South Carolina means that for the first time live cattle can be shipped from the sections freed for anything but immediate slaughter, unless inspected clipped and certified by an Inspector of the Bureau of Animal Industry in accordance with federal regulation. Beginning with September 15, however, stockers and feeders have been shipped from this territory to northern markets for any purposes. Heretofore cattle from these sections when shipped had to go into the quarantine pens at the slaughter-houses and be turned at once into meat, irrespective of the prices then being offered for stockers and feeders.

The southern cattle raiser in the freed territory, moreover, not only gains the advantage of being able to sell his cattle in the free pens, but also is spared the trouble and extra cost of shipping them under quarantine conditions in the stock cars.

In all since 1908, when the dipping work was started a total of 262,469 square miles have been freed from the tick and released from quarantine. The work of dipping was done co-operatively by the counties, the States, and the Department of Agriculture. There still remains, however, 479,000 square miles in the South still tick-infested, from which live cattle can be shipped only under quarantine regulations.

Those in charge of the work report that where a territory is cleaned from ticks stock raising receives a great impetus not only because of the better marketing conditions then open because, with the tick dipped out of the county, breeding animals as animals so imported are peculiarly subject to Texas fever which is transmitted by this enemy of cattle in the South.

G.A.R. PARADE WAS FEATURE TODAY

Great Contrast Noted in Army of Today And That Fifty Years Ago—Reviewed by President

ILLINOIS WELL REPRESENTED

(By United Press.)

Washington, Sept. 29.—Fifty years ago President Johnson sat in a stand in Pennsylvania avenue here and reviewed the victorious armies of Grant and Sherman. It took days for the armies to march by the chief executive. Today history repeated itself. The remnants of those two great armies passed in review. But it required only five hours for the fast thinning lines to pass before President Wilson.

Illinois was well represented in the "grand review" the boys of '65 from that state leading the procession. They wore uniforms that saw service at Bull Run, Chattanooga and Antietam. The Illinois veterans were escorted by two thousand members of the Sons of Veterans.

True Secret of Keeping Youthful Looking

(The Beauty Seeker.)
"The real secret of keeping young-looking and beautiful," says a well-known hygienist, "is to keep the liver and bowels normally active. Without these requisites, poisonous waste products remain in the system, polluting the blood and lodging in various organs, tissues, joints. One becomes flabby, obese, nervous, mentally sluggish, dull-eyed, wrinkled and sallow of face."
"But to get liver and bowels working as they ought, without producing evil after-effects, has been the problem. Fortunately, there is a prescription of unquestioned merit, which may now be had in convenient tablet form. Its value is due largely to an ingredient derived from the humble May apple, or its root which has been called 'vegetable castor' because of its effectiveness—though of course it is not to be classed with the real calomel of mercurial origin. There is no habit-forming constituent in 'Santal' tablets—the name of the medicine—because their use is not followed by weakness or exhaustion. On the contrary, these harmless vegetable tablets tend to impart tone and elasticity to the relaxed intestinal wall. 'Santal' tablets, which may be procured from any druggist—a dime's worth will do—will prove a revelation to any constipated, liver-troubled person."

Chief Cause of Pimples, Blotches, Sallow Skin

(Messenger of Health.)
Unslightly eruptions, pimples, boils, blotches, sallow or muddy skin, usually are due to a sluggish liver, a congested blood and a relaxed intestinal stream as a consequence. How foolish in such cases to resort to outward applications, which can never have natural, permanent results. If more people only knew it, there is a very simple remedy, to be found in any drug store, which is as effective as it is harmless and quick acting. It is medicinal formula, long recognized by the medical profession, which has been put in tablet form, and at such small cost no one need now be deprived of its wonderful benefits.
"Santal tablets"—that's the name—are entirely vegetable and there's no habit-forming ingredient. You need only get about a dime's worth, and you're on one at bedtime, and you'll realize that's nothing else quite so good for the purpose. The action in the morning is so easy, so soothing, and instead of a weakening after-effect, you feel truly refreshed and invigorated. 'Santal' tablets are not only the finest remedy known for constipation and torpid liver, but offer the sanest, most sensible treatment for complexion difficulties of the character mentioned.

Great Demand for New Constipation Remedy

They say that the advent of the "santal tablet" as a vegetable substitute for calomel has resulted in an extraordinary demand for this remarkable product. It seems to have made a hit, not only with those afflicted with chronic constipation, who were quick to recognize its advantages over calomel and the usual laxatives.
"Santal tablets," aside from their efficacy, doubtless owe their success largely to a tendency to add in bringing about natural functioning—instead of encouraging the "calomel habit." And instead of injuring the membranous lining of the organs involved, they exert a healing influence. Instead of weakening, they add tone to the intestinal wall. And they work so easily and gently, they are of course preferred on this account to the violently acting purgatives. Their inexpensiveness is another factor in their popularity of "santal tablets." One need procure only a dime's worth, and take one tablet upon retiring, to be convinced that the ideal remedy for constipation is at hand, and their many evil consequences, has finally been found.—Druggists Review.

ENGLISH SYSTEM IS NOT PRACTICAL

Plan to Give Cabinet Members Seat in Congress is Not Likely in This Country

SITUATION DIFFERENT HERE

(By United Press.)

Washington, Sept. 29.—Replying to American exponents of the British system of giving Cabinet officers seats in Congress, Franklin K. Lane, Secretary of the Interior Department, told the United Press that in his estimation the scheme was neither "practicable nor advisable."

"Speaking for myself," said Secretary Lane, "I would not have the time to use the seat in Congress if I had one. Cabinet positions in America are purely administrative positions as opposed to those in England, where the supervision of the various departments is mostly carried on by under-secretaries."

"As the situation is now, we Cabinet officers have all the opportunity desired to make clear our ideas and wishes to Congress. In the first place, the recommendations in our annual reports state our positions to Congress as clearly and forcibly as we could to state them if we addressed the members from the floor of the chamber. In the second place we have ample opportunity to appear before the Congressional committees and speak on any measure within our province."

In addition to that, all bills concerning our respective departments are submitted to us as soon as introduced for the purpose of getting our opinions on them. During the last session of Congress I wrote reports on 3,000 bills thus submitted. You can realize that I would have hardly had time to make three thousand speeches for or against them. "Looking at the proposition from the point of view of the Congressmen and Senators themselves, I do not believe they would favor the plan. I believe that the distinction between administration and legislation, as now recognized, is what they would continue to favor and insist upon."

NATION LOOKS INTO THE PAST

Little Like Stalwart Legions, 200,000 Strong, Which Paraded Same Ground Half Century Ago.

(Note—General Nelson A. Miles, Grand Marshal of today's review, who joined President Wilson on the reviewing stand when he and his escort had passed before the Executive, wrote for the United Press this description of the event and tribute to the men who marched.)

By GEN. NELSON A. MILES
(Written for United Press.)

Washington, Sept. 29.—Washington looked today through the eyes of fifty years ago.

Its populace and visitors joined with the Nation's Executive in reviewing the scattered blue battalions of The Grand Army of the Republic, all that is left of the stalwart legions, 200,000 strong, who marched with youth's firm step before the White House in review with Sherman, Meade, Sheridan and Hancock at the close of the war that called the army into being.

Celebrated in the most beautiful capital, among the people of the strongest, most prosperous republic in the world, the 50th annual grand review of The Grand Army of the Republic epitomized and symbolized the spirit of our nation—Unity; and mighty influence on all humanity through unborn ages.

There in the vanguard of this body, unique and filled with the essence of tragedy and romance, marched the remnants of Logan's men—the troops from Illinois. John A. Logan is dead, but can it be I saw his shadow striding on beside them?

Few of the handful of old leaders who are left from the days of '61 and '65 passed here today. Wilson of Delaware, Dodge of Iowa, Brooks of Pennsylvania, and Peunypacker and Sheridan; Osterhaus of Illinois, Andrews of Minnesota, Connor of Maine and Louis Grant who fought with Andrews; Gregg, that grand old Pennsylvania cavalryman; Hardin of Chicago, Nickerson of Somerville, Paine of Massachusetts, Pierce of Michigan, Seward of Albany, Medford of Oregon—all still living, but not all here.

Their boys trooped by, though, rigid as the dragging chains of time permitted; and with them, in fancy, anyhow, if not in fact, their generals went marching on before.

Fifteenth in line marched what remains of the men who fought with George H. Thomas at Nashville. "The Rock of Chicamagua," we called him "The Noblest Roman of Them All." In Swintons' history you'll read that his army's Nashville campaign plan turned vanquishment into victory for us.

A naval banner streaming free above the stumbling ranks brought back the memory of John Ericsson. He is not here, but that small group which flew the ribboned ensign well could tell you all about him; how he dreamed the Monitor and heard it scoffed at; how Lincoln overruled the navy and ordered him to build the armored ship; and how at last it saved the Union craft; the Merrimac was mowing down; and revolutionized all naval warfare.

Far down the line were the boys from Delaware; still among them from their gallant General, James H. Wilson, leader of one of the largest commands during the civil war and who rendered service again in the war with Spain.

Then there were the Pennsylvania boys, once led by the youthful General, George A. Pennypacker, who still alive carries in his person two confederate bullets.

In this parade of the Grand Army of the Republic, decaying through time though it is, there lie lines of a wonderful story; a story which few of us in this day of rush and bustle have time to pause and contemplate. The Grand Army of the Republic is the outgrowth of circumstances and necessity. Political problems of generations' standing developed into hostilities. The prayer of the people of all sections was that the cup of bitterness might pass, but it was not to be; and the flower of manhood in all sections resorted to arms. Such an army—the remnant of which we see here today—never was and, probably, never again will be recruited. A million boys 18 or under, and 2 million 21 or under, answered the call to the colors. The great bulk of the army was composed of men under 25.

The theatre of war extended from the Potomac to the Rio Grande. Through much fighting there were many drawn battles though few decisive engagements. Altogether it was a 4 years' war of exhaustion in personnel and material that continued until the South was on the verge of bankruptcy. At the close of this war of Americans against Americans there was universal rejoicing in every part of the country, though gloom and sorrow overshadowed many hearts and homes.

The terrible, fierce animosity and strong prejudice that had actuated the hearts and nerved the arms of all during the struggle, were buried in the last entrenchments. The black-mouthed cannon were forever silenced. The war drums throbbed no longer and the battle-flags were furled; and as the smoke of conflict rolled away, the negroes of both armies clasped hands and pledged eternal fidelity and allegiance to their reunited country.

These then young men, who between '61 and '65 tramped many battlefields, have been engaged for years in business activities or professions; or they have become governors, statesmen, pioneer and home-builders in the mighty west.

To the Business Men of RUSHVILLE

When a good salesman goes out after business, he first puts on a clean collar and gets his shoes shined. Then he looks like more business—and he's made a flying start toward getting it.

Likewise, a community can go after more business—and get it. The "clean collar and shiny shoes" of this town are the well-painted stores, the bright, cheery homes, the fresh, clean-looking buildings. The part paint plays in building up local pride cannot be put in figures—but its good effects are recorded on the local merchants' sales sheets. Buy good paint. We recommend and sell and pure linseed oil. We know of nothing else so satisfactory, so lasting, and cheap in the long run. We sell all other paint necessities as well. Get in touch with us today.

UP-TO-NOW IN-DESIGN

Designs as shown by some firms are more or less freakish or fadish to attract the attention of the prospective customers with scarcely a thought of their wearing appearance or correctness in proportion. But then they are merely on paper and represent but a small loss if they don't take.

We have faith in our ability as rational designers and as proof we show at our works a most complete selection of ready to erect monuments designed by our nationally recognized designer.

New suits that you will enthuse about are just unpacked—so advanced in idea, so splendidly made, that you can buy and wear them now, and through the winter, too, and find that at the end of the season, they will still be in the lead of the mode—still fresh-looking and perfect in shape.

Perhaps you are going away this Fall? Much of the pleasure of your trip will be in the admiring glances your fashionable new suit will bring. And even if you plan to stay at home, you will still be judged by your appearance, as you unconsciously judge others.

Mrs. Mary Hawk Expires of Kidney Trouble and Gall Stones at Home West of Arlington.

MOTHER OF NINE CHILDREN

Mrs. Mary Hawk, forty-eight years old, wife of E. Hawk, died at her home west of Arlington Tuesday afternoon of kidney trouble and gall stones. Her death was not expected as she was ill only a short time. She took sick a week ago last Monday and the Thursday following her condition became critical. Mrs. Hawk was a member of the Fairview M. P. church.

Mrs. Hawk's entire life was spent in Shelby county. During her younger years her home was in the Ray churches neighborhood, northwest of Shelbyville, but she had lived in the Morristown community since her marriage to Mr. Hawk, twenty-three years ago. She was the mother of nine children, two of whom are dead. Those who survive are five sons and two daughters, namely Willie, Lanta, Glen, Herbert, Oris, Fern and Geneva. Those about the Marion county criminal court who are used to hearing Judge Eichorn give an extemporaneous opinion on intricate points of law concerning conspiracies without the use of an unnecessary word have taken great pleasure in repeating the story that in some unknown manner reached here from Bluffton, his home town.

Judge Eichorn, the story goes, likes to hunt squirrels but that he doesn't always hit what he aims at. One day he was wasting more lead than usual. Eichorn had taken about 20 shots at the bushy tail without success. At first the squirrel moved about some, but it finally decided that the safest thing to do was to lie still, for if it moved too much, it might fall off the limb and get hurt.

WILSON SHOWS EMOTION

Tears Gather in His Eyes as he Reviews Army Veterans.

(By United Press.)

Washington, Sept. 29.—President Wilson wept today as he reviewed the parade of the Grand Army veterans. Tears gathered in his eyes time and again. He was not alone in his emotion for as thousands from the city of Washington and the 100,000 visitors watched the broken ranks, there were few dry eyes.

The President stood on the exact spot where fifty years ago President Andrew Jackson stood and saw these same men, then stalwart soldiers in their prime, pass in close rank up the avenue to be disbanded after their four years of bloody struggle.
